

CUMULATIVE INDEX

THE PERFINS BULLETIN

1945 - 1992

Copyright 1993 The Perfins Club.

FOREWORD

In preparing an index to a publication that has existed since 1945, published in several formats and using several printing methods, and with no previous attempt at a comprehensive index, the task appeared initially to be overwhelming. I hope that we have accomplished the goal we set for ourselves - a useful document that any researcher, perfins specialist or not, can use.

The contributions made are legion. To all who have written about perfins for the Perfins Bulletin, a debt of thanks is due from us all. Recognition of Perfins Club President Dick Mewhinney - the encouragement and assistance he has given, both personally and as a contributor, is most noteworthy. To John F. Lyding, Paul A. Mistretta, Robert J. Schwerdt, Jackson L. Sothern, and Norman Touchette - the "Editorial Board" - whose keen eyes, sound judgements, criticisms, and suggestions have contributed greatly to the success of this effort - my deepest thanks.

INTRODUCTION

This cumulative index to The Perfins Bulletin has been developed with several objectives. First, to provide a comprehensive listing of all items relevant to perfins published in the journal. Second, to provide the researcher with a readily accessible means of locating material relevant to the area under study. And third, to establish the basic document for continuing an index.

Several choices were made in developing the index. All items, wherever appearing, that could be useful in the study of perfins, were listed. All items that were NOT perfins related, in even the remotest sense, were omitted. Where an article title or item subject required expansion, annotations were made. Articles/items containing multiple pieces of information on any subject, related or not, were cited for EACH subject addressed in the article/item.

Every effort was made to not use perfins philatelic terms except where no other terms were available. A glossary of terms and a listing of abbreviations used is included. Abbreviations were not used except when required. It is strongly recommended that the user of this index read the glossary of terms and abbreviations, especially if you are not familiar with perfins terminology.

Since production of The Perfins Bulletin has been a labor of love, minor mistakes have occurred. Most significantly, the whole numbering of TPB has been erroneously recorded several times. All citations in the Index are made using PRINTED whole numbers and the month and year date of the issue.

For many years, issues of The Perfins Bulletin contained mimeograph catalog pages, worksheets, small 'catalogs', additions and corrections (A&C) pages for the U.S. catalogs - items designed to be removed and used for their specific purpose. It is doubtful, from issues seen, that a "complete" run of The Perfins Bulletin exists. Information about what, if any, items were included with the issues up to whole number 73 is sketchy or unavailable. Beginning with whole number 73, a recapitulation of what pages were contained in that issue was included in each issue, and recapitulations continued until whole number 256. Items listed in these 'recapitulations' are cited. Every page of every issue since MAY 73 has been seen and accounted for.

For brevity, perfins patterns from the United States have been identified by their catalog number from the U.S. Perfins Catalog, 1979 edition, published by the Perfins Club. Perfins from other countries have been identified by their letters and/or numbers and/or designs(as appropriate). There are many excellent foreign catalogs, but believing their distribution is not as widespread as the U.S. catalog, catalog numbers were not used, unless the specific catalog was noted as well.

Editors of The Perfin's Bulletin

All of the editors of The Perfin's Bulletin are listed below. In developing the Index, any article without direct attribution was assumed to have been written by the editor of that issue, and he was not listed as author. Where an article received an author byline, that person is so credited. In those cases where the editor also received a byline, he is so credited.

Glossary of Terms - Abbreviations

The majority of terms used in perfins philately are the same as found in general philately. There are certain terms that have been developed that are peculiar to this specialized philatelic area. A listing follows.

blanket perfin - pattern made to cover more than one stamp code hole - and additional hole extra to the normal design which may indicate a different machine die - a set of pins that make one complete design or set of initials, and which may also include a code hole(or code holes) double, triple, etc. - where the perfin pattern has been struck on the stamp more than once, usually with slight mis-registration head - that part of the perforator that contains the die(s) used to create the perfin(s) illegal - pattern that exceeds government mandated size restrictions issue - stamp on which the pattern is punched multiple die - the same pattern repeated more than once on a perforator head (possibly with minor variations)

official - perfins used by government agencies pattern - the letters, design, or figures that comprise the perfin perfin cancel - where a perfin is used to cancel a stamp(usually revenue) or a document perfins - from perforated initials or insignia perforator - machine - hand, mechanically, or electrically operated - that perforates the pattern into a stamp personal use - perfins stamp used on private correspondence private - perfins for business or personal use versus official government use revenue perfin - there can be two types: where the perfin was applied to the revenue stamp before it was used; or where the perfin was applied to the revenue stamp and document the stamp is affixed to as a perfin cancel(cf)

Schermack - special perfins used with mailing machines that normally used a combination of holes vice letters

split - a partial perfin pattern that is incomplete due to off-centering of the pattern to left or right, top or bottom, etc.

Mimeographed (STANDARD) Catalog. The first United States perfins catalog, called the "MIMEOGRAPHED" or "STANDARD" Catalog, was produced on a mimeograph machine, and pages were published with the Perfins Bulletin. Since they were designed to be removed from the Bulletin, and used as a separate catalog, and since revisions, designed to replace earlier published pages were also included periodically, it is doubtful that any set of the Bulletins contains all of these pages. Additionally, "A&C" (Additions and Corrections) pages were periodically issued as part of the Bulletin, and were designed to be used to make 'pen and ink' corrections to the Mimeograph Catalog, and then discarded. Also, "worksheets" were published, and, as their name implies, they were working catalog documents designed to be superseded. This catalog was replaced by the Illustrated Catalog in 1966.

U.S. Railroad Catalog.

Owing to the extensive use of perfin by U.S. Railroads, and an early interest by club members in railroad perfin, this was the first U.S. catalog developed by the Club, and also the first illustrated catalog published by the club. There were three catalogs: 1957, published as part of the Bulletin; 1966, published separately; and 1987, also published separately.
